

THE POWER OF TOGETHER

This is a picture from inside the CWS Summit from years past. I used to love this image pre-Covid because it represented the change we as contingent workforce, human resources and DEI professionals had on the front lines to move society forward.

Now it has additional meaning in our pandemic world: We have to fill these seats with empathy, vision and empowerment. It's a new purpose. Those of us who are stewards of talent within organizations, we have the power to scale change. The same is true for leaders of all levels within companies: each one of us contributes to creating a culture of inclusion, from who we invite to meetings to how we intentionally show curiosity about our co-workers.

By working together, we can make work a better place.
