

IT'S NOT ABOUT ME; IT'S ABOUT WE

Celebrating together at CWS 2022

It's not about me; it's about we. That's the biggest message I took away from being at CWS 2022 in Dallas.

The industry thrives when you have people connecting on a human level, and coming together in person for the first time since the pandemic to host a closing celebration shined a light on that fact that personal interaction makes a big difference. Change starts with each and every one of us, but it's only by coming together that we can collectively create a sense of belonging in organizations. Employees will be more productive when they feel welcomed and inspired.

Focusing on inclusion at work is the right thing to do, and we need to stop doing the wrong things. Thank you to all the change makers who joined us at CWS, and who are making inclusion for your entire workforce part of your legacy.

See you all again next year,
Ashish Kaushal, CEO, HireTalent & Founder, Consciously Unbiased
